Accommodation

An enclosed entrance porch leads into the lounge diner, a room stretching approximately 24 feet with windows at either end drawing in light and connecting the space to the gardens. There is ample room to arrange comfortable seating alongside a dining area, while the open staircase forms a natural feature of the room. A separate study sits just off the entrance, its broad window creating a pleasant outlook for a home office, reading room or snug.

The kitchen brings together preparation and dining space, with cabinetry arranged around a central island and room for a table beside the window. It is an inviting setting for morning coffee and everyday meals, complemented by a separate utility room that keeps household tasks conveniently tucked away. A rear entrance hall and ground-floor WC complete the accommodation downstairs.

On the first floor, four bedrooms are arranged around a central landing. The principal bedroom offers generous proportions, fitted wardrobes and a wide window overlooking the greenery outside. Three further bedrooms provide space for family and visitors, with the flexibility to accommodate hobbies or additional home working. A bathroom and a separate shower room serve this floor.

The gardens gives the property much of its appeal. Lawns wrap around the house, bordered by mature shrubs and hedging, while paved paths link a series of places to sit, dine and enjoy the planting. The greenery creates an attractive backdrop to the rooms inside, with a driveway and garage completing the setting.
